Example 1:

Youth is very important in society because young people are full of energy, creativity, and enthusiasm. They play a key role in social and economic development by bringing new ideas and helping bring about positive change. Many young people use technology and teamwork to solve problems in their communities. However, youth also face challenges such as lack of experience and social pressure. In my opinion, if young people receive proper guidance from families and schools, they can overcome these difficulties and become responsible citizens who contribute positively to society.

Example 2 :

Youth plays a crucial role in the progress of society. Young people are energetic, creative, and eager to make a difference. They contribute to development by participating in social activities and proposing innovative solutions to community problems. Thanks to technology, many youths communicate ideas and work together more effectively. However, they may face difficulties such as inexperience, unemployment, and social pressure. In my view, when young people are guided and supported by their families and schools, they can build strong values and become active, responsible members of society.
